Good morning,

As we approach the holiday period I wanted to provide you with an update as to where things currently stand on the EDF Saltmarsh proposals.

As you will know I have made my objections to these proposals very publicly known, and I will continue to do so – sharing my concerns, and ensuring that your concerns are heard at the highest levels.

To this end I have recently met with representatives of the EA and EDF to discuss the proposed saltmarsh development and to explore potential alternatives. These meetings were productive, although combative at times, and both the EA and EDF are aware of the strength of our community's objections to the Kingston Seymour proposals – as well as the option for pursuing alternative plans, elsewhere.

The next steps in the process will now not take place until the early part of next year, as the timeline for the final proposals on the development of Hinckley Point C approach. There will be a public consultation, where constituents will be able to formally log their objections to the proposals – and my team and I will be happy to assist any constituent with submitting their objections at this time.

Later in 2025 EDF will have to submit their final proposals, with a view towards Ed Miliband making a final determination on the viability of the proposals at this point. It is my hope, and belief, that by this time EDF will have recognised that Kingston Seymour is not the appropriate location for this development and that they will have accepted alternative arrangements.

I will continue to fight on your behalf, to ensure my colleagues in Parliament and the shareholders in the Hinckley development are fully aware of the strength of opposition to altering our beloved countryside and communities in such a fundamental way.

I wish you and your family a happy holiday period, and should you require my assistance feel free to contact me.

Kind regards,

Sadik
